Notes: This is a very strong letter of recommendation, listing not only academic excellence, but extracurricular achievement as well. One thing I wanted to know a little more about is the connection between your thesis and your desire to enroll in this program; if a sentence or two could be added to elaborate on what you hope to get out of this program and what you intend to do with the degree afterward, it would make a bigger impact.

The only other changes I made were small grammatical ones to make the letter sound more “crisp” and authoritative.
